One uphill transfer at each race will be timed. That one transfer will have independent timing boxes, so racers can rest before and after the timed climb. The timed transfer does not count in the overall race time. With no shuttling and plenty of climbing to each starting point, the event requires excellent fitness and endurance. Registration, camping, and recon begins on Saturday August 11th,. Racing is on Sunday. Only guaranteed spots are available. Once purchased the plates are good for all ESC races in It is 12 miles away from East Burke by car. Motels and full service campgrounds exist in East Burke, St. Johnsbury and Concord, Vermont. With no shuttling and plenty of climbing to each starting point, the event required excellent fitness and endurance. Course practice is on Saturday with racing on Sunday, Aug 12th. This early season event promises to be unique in that it occurs on rarely ridden singletrack on the edge of Kingdom Trails. Riders can expect long timed stages that descend miles each. This alpine setting provides breathtaking views of the White Mountains and plenty of space for parking, product tents, primitive camping, bonfires and racing. With these two entities teamed up, participants and spectators can look forward to a fantastic weekend of riding and racing in the remote, rural surroundings of Victory, Vermont. Victory is 2 miles as the crow flies from East Burke, Vermont and 7 miles away by car. Restaurants, motels and campgrounds with amenities are located closer to KT headquarters in East Burke, Lyndonville, St. Johnsbury and Concord, VT. From a recent Pinkbike article: East Burke sits at the base of Burke Mountain, where the ski resort and bike park can be found on its northwest facing aspect. On the other side of the mountain, Victory State Forest can be found stretching 16, acres from the eastern slopes of Burke Mountain down into the valleys and across several smaller peaks. Here, Knight has been working on a new set of trails for over a year, alongside John McGill of Victory Hill Sector, a company dedicated to the protection of large tracts of land from being parceled.
