Dobby is a free elf! His masters were Dark Wizards who treated him cruelly. In he disobeyed his masters and tried to warn Harry Potter of the plot to have the Chamber of Secrets reopened. He came to know this via the contact between his masters and Lord Voldemort. At the end of that school year, after Harry had vanquished the memory of Tom Riddle and slayed the basilisk in the Chamber of Secrets, he tricked Lucius Malfoy into freeing Dobby. Harry accomplished this by placing the Diary of Tom Riddle inside his own sock. Dobby suffered a period of unemployment, during which he was often ostracised for having no "proper shame" in regards to being out of work. He was generally pleased to be free, although he did enjoy working as a hobby. Dobby was ecstatic to be out of the abusive hands of the Malfoys, but equally pleased to join the Hogwarts staff. At Hogwarts he could come and go as he liked, did not have many tasks, and those he did have were fairly simple. Dobby requested some compensations for his work and eventually he and Dumbledore came to an agreement. Dobby went on to work in the kitchens at Hogwarts , for which he was paid one Galleon a week and got one day off each month. Harry, Ron , and Hermione. Dobby gets them five times a day at home. They treated Dobby with unkindness and cruelty, often reminding him to perform extra punishments on himself when he did something disagreeable to them. The Malfoys were harsh and abused Dobby often. Though he always did as he was told, he knew that their behaviour was wrong and he longed to be free of them. Presumably, this was because the Malfoys saw Dobby as an insignificant slave, and because they knew that house-elves were not able to break the commands of their masters, never believing he would try to interfere. Dobby went to the Dursley house to warn Harry not to go back to school, revealing that he had been intercepting his mail. Mafalda Hopkirk of the Improper Use of Magic Office sent Harry a warning letter for the apparent transgression by an under-age wizard, informing the Dursleys that Harry was not allowed to use magic outside of school. Dobby and Harry in the hospital wing, after Harry injured his right arm during a Quidditch match Lastly, Dobby tried his most risky and dangerous plan by making a Bludger attack Harry during a Quidditch match, hoping to send him back to Privet Drive injured, but alive. However, an unfortunate blunder by Professor Gilderoy Lockhart resulted in Harry losing all the bones in his right arm. Madam Pomfrey was able to regrow the bones by using Skele-Gro but it took an entire night. While Harry was in the Hospital Wing recovering, Dobby appeared and admitted his acts, enraging Harry to the point that he threatened to strangle him. Dobby implored Harry to leave, accidentally admitting that the Chamber of Secrets had been opened before. Harry demanded to know who had opened it last time, but Dobby refused to reveal any more information and disappeared when he heard someone coming. Upon denying this, Malfoy discarded the diary by giving it to Dobby. Since house elves are freed when given clothing from their master, Dobby was freed when Lucius Malfoy handed him the diary with the sock Harry had planted inside. Although house elves are treated as low-class slaves, they have very powerful magic, and even some beyond wizard ability. Working in the kitchens "Professor Dumbledore offered Dobby ten Galleons a week, and weekends off, but Dobby beat him down, miss Eventually, he was hired by Albus Dumbledore to work in the kitchens of Hogwarts for a Galleon a week and one day a month off. Hermione Granger was initially indignant at the amount of pay, but Dobby explained that he requested that amount, as Dumbledore had offered ten Galleons a week and weekends off. It was just before this time that Hermione formed the organisation called S. W , which Ron often derisively called "spew". For a time, Dobby was the only Hogwarts house-elf who would clean Gryffindor Tower , because Hermione had hidden woollen hats and socks in with the rubbish with the intention of freeing them. The Hogwarts house-elves refused thereafter to clean the common room, as they viewed the hidden clothes to be insulting. This allowed Harry to breathe underwater and retrieve Ron Weasley and Gabrielle Delacour from the lake. Friendship with Aberforth Dumbledore Dobby continued to work in the kitchens at Hogwarts, but was an outsider among the other elves in the castle. Dobby heard tell of it from the other house-elves when he came to Hogwarts, sir. Dobby, however, told him of the Room of Requirement and how to get into it. He knew of this secret room, because he had used it frequently to hide Winky after she became drunk from Butterbeer. When he heard, Harry ordered Dobby not to punish himself for disobeying a direct order from Umbridge. Spying on Draco Malfoy Harry Potter: I want you to follow him around the cloak. Kreacher insulted Harry and stated that Draco would be a better master. Dobby fought him and knocked out several of his teeth and tearfully told him that Harry was a great wizard and that the Malfoys were not good masters for a house-elf. Malfoy Manor and death "Harry There, Bellatrix Lestrange saw that they were carrying the Sword of Gryffindor , and she stopped Lucius Malfoy from summoning Voldemort , afraid they had been in her Gringotts vault. Keeping Hermione upstairs for interrogation and torture, Bellatrix had the others imprisoned in the locked cellar, where they encountered Luna Lovegood and Garrick Ollivander , who were also being held there. Though the new arrivals were tied up, Luna found a nail with which she was able to cut their bonds. Harry pleaded for help from the owner of the eye, Aberforth Dumbledore , and shortly Dobby, sent by Aberforth, Apparated into the cellar. From upstairs, where she was now questioning Griphook about whether or not the sword was the real one, Bellatrix heard the noise of Dobby Disapparating and sent Peter Pettigrew to investigate. Dobby announced his return by causing a chandelier to fall on Bellatrix. Harry seized the wands Draco Malfoy was holding and used a stunning spell on Greyback. Ron grabbed Hermione and they Disapparated to Shell Cottage. Meanwhile Harry similarly grabbed Griphook and Disapparated.
