Perfect for showing on a larger screen for a public event or for daily personal enjoyment for you to experience peace and comfort Screen-Savers of 5 full-length movies. Your short film about Teddy Stallard was quite profound - it actually made me cry. It also made me realize that I must be more mindful when I am training my apprentices. Thank You So Very Much. The next step for my students is Juvenile Detention The medium of inspirational movies is truly an emerging art form and platform speakers, teachers and ministers are uniquely poised to become leaders in how they will be defined. If you are going to show short flash movies for your audience I would suggest you follow these seven steps: Consider how the inspirational movie emotionally and intellectually benefits your audience. Incorporate the movie into your outline at a pivotal point of your message. Tell the audience how long the inspirational movie is going to be and that there will be 30 seconds of silence after the video to allow people to think and collect their insights about what they watched. After the inspirational movie plays, allow 30 seconds for them to think about the video. Explain what you just watched. And if time allows, be receptive to field audience insights. Continue using inspirational movies to keep people "awake to" and "engaged in" your message. Personal Use for Full Screen Viewing: Meaningful, peaceful images are the size of your full screen. Make A Difference inspirational movies help you to immediately reduce stress, enhance your cognitive functioning, and improve productivity and creativity. Music combined with inspired messages of hope, restores faith, renews the mind and opens the way for peaceful solutions that you seek. Watch it first thing in the morning before beginning your work day and last thing of the day before retiring to help you connect with your inner wisdom, creativity and peace. You control the volume and you can start and stop it as you wish. As a Full-Movie Screensaver: You can set the number of minutes of inactivity before it starts to play quietly. The volume is lower and the images are higher resolution than the online version.

Zelina Vega - Making a Difference (Official 2nd WWE Theme) Zelina Vega's Official 2nd WWE Theme!! Zelina Vega has impressed me from the start of her WWE career and she still does!! I'm so glad SDL.

Well guess what yes you can. God has a plan for everyone and as Christians we are to make differences in the world. You might be the only Christian in your family and God can use you to get everyone saved. You can be the one who influences one person and then that person influences two more people thus getting more people saved. There are so many ways you can make a change in the world. Just doing something can do a lot. You can volunteer, give, teach, correct, and more. We must never be self centered. Always remember someone is going to die today without knowing Christ? You can be the person at your job or school to start a spiritual spark! Step forward, reach out and help. More people are going to hell because no one speaks against rebellion anymore. Whoever turns a sinner from the error of their way will save them from death and cover over a multitude of sins. Keep watch on yourself, lest you too be tempted. Let him warn them, so that they will not also come to this place of torment. These are the sacrifices that please God. People need to hear to get saved. I have become all things to all people, that by all means I might save some. Let your light shine so people will glorify God. It is God who works in you. We are co-workers He has created us anew in Christ Jesus, so we can do the good things he planned for us long ago. Chapter 3 : 25 Encouraging Bible Verses About Making A Difference

Your Theme: Making A Difference Posted on January 2, Author Trish For as long as I can remember, watching the Tournament of Roses parade on January 1st is how I kick off each new year.

The conference was in full swing, with scholars delivering knowledgeable lectures on varying subjects. The audience enjoyed it immensely. He said through peace they could achieve what not possible through war. Love and Friendship Theme Love and friendship are frequently occurring themes in literature. They generate emotional twists and turns in a narrative, and can lead to a variety of endings: The following are famous literary works with love and friendship themes: War Theme The theme of war has been explored in literature since ancient times. Most recent literary works portray war as a curse for humanity, due to the suffering it inflicts. Some famous examples include: Crime and Mystery Themes Crime and mystery are utilized in detective novels. Some well-known crime and mystery theme examples include: Revenge Theme Revenge is another recurrent theme found in many popular literary works. A character comes across certain circumstances that make him aware of his need for revenge. The outcome of his action is often bitter, but sometimes they may end up being satisfied. Charge for the guns! Into the valley of Death Rode the six hundred. War is the main theme of the poem, which naturally leads to death while the theme of death is interwoven with the theme of war. Function of Theme Theme is an element of a story that binds together various essential elements of a narrative. It is often a truth that exhibits universality, and stands true for people of all cultures. Through themes, a writer tries to give his readers an insight into how the world works, or how he or she views human life.

Rowling Let me distract you for a moment and tell you four short stories. These are old stories – familiar stories. The people and the circumstances differ slightly for everyone who tells them, but the core lessons remain the same. This past Sunday my curiosity got the best of me, so I stopped jogging and walked over to her. As I got closer, I realized that the metal cage was in fact a small trap. There were three turtles, unharmed, slowly walking around the base of the trap. She had a fourth turtle in her lap that she was carefully scrubbing with a spongy brush. It can also corrode and weaken the shell over time. I scratched my head. I mean, I think your efforts are kind and all, but there are fresh water turtles living in lakes all around the world. So, no offense – but how exactly are your localized efforts here truly making a difference? You can change the world – maybe not all at once, but one person, one animal, and one good deed at a time. Wake up every morning and pretend like what you do makes a difference.

The Weight of the Glass Once upon a time a psychology professor walked around on a stage while teaching stress management principles to an auditorium filled with students. It all depends on how long I hold it. If I hold it for an hour straight, its weight might make my arm ache a little. If I hold it for a day straight, my arm will likely cramp up and feel completely numb and paralyzed, forcing me to drop the glass to the floor. Think about them for a while and nothing happens. Think about them a bit longer and you begin to ache a little. Think about them all day long, and you will feel completely numb and paralyzed – incapable of doing anything else until you drop them. No matter what happens during the day, as early in the evening as you can, put all your burdens down.

Shark Bait During a research experiment a marine biologist placed a shark into a large holding tank and then released several small bait fish into the tank. As you would expect, the shark quickly swam around the tank, attacked and ate the smaller fish. The marine biologist then inserted a strong piece of clear fiberglass into the tank, creating two separate partitions. She then put the shark on one side of the fiberglass and a new set of bait fish on the other. Again, the shark quickly attacked. This time, however, the shark slammed into the fiberglass divider and bounced off. Undeterred, the shark kept repeating this behavior every few minutes to no avail. Meanwhile, the bait fish swam around unharmed in the second partition. Eventually, about an hour into the experiment, the shark gave up. This experiment was repeated several dozen times over the next few weeks. Each time, the shark got less aggressive and made fewer attempts to attack the bait fish, until eventually the shark got tired of hitting the fiberglass divider and simply stopped attacking altogether. The shark was trained to believe a barrier existed between it and the bait fish, so the bait fish swam wherever they wished, free from harm. Many of us, after experiencing setbacks and failures, emotionally give up and stop trying. Like the shark in the story, we believe that because we were unsuccessful in the past, we will always be unsuccessful.

Read The Road Less Traveled. Being and Breathing One warm evening many years ago – After spending nearly every waking minute with Angel for eight straight days, I knew that I had to tell her just one thing. So late at night, just before she fell asleep, I whispered it in her ear. The room was peaceful – almost silent. All I could hear was the soft purr of her breathing. Nor did the future hold any significance. All that mattered was the serenity of the moment. Just being with her and breathing with her. We must not allow the clock, the calendar, and external pressures to rule our lives and blind us to the fact that each individual moment of our lives is a beautiful mystery and a miracle – especially those moments we spend in the presence of a loved one. Your turn – How do you think differently today than you once did? What life experience or realization brought on a significant change in your way of thinking? Please leave a comment below and share your story with us.

Chapter 5 : Theme - Examples and Definition of Theme

Theme Gifts - Motivational - Making The Difference By showing dedication, and sharing what you know, you bring our team together, and help us thrive and grow.

Less Themes and templates help you create content that looks attractive and consistent while avoiding lots of manual formatting. A theme is a predefined set of colors, fonts, and visual effects that you apply to your slides for a unified, professional look. Using a theme gives your presentation a harmonious appearance with minimal effort. When you add graphics tables, shapes, and so on to your slides, PowerPoint applies theme colors that are compatible with other slide elements. Dark-colored text is shown on a light background and vice versa , so that contrast is strong for ease of reading. Here are four different themes applied to the same slide: To choose a theme for your presentation PowerPoint offers several preset themes. They are on the Design tab of the Ribbon on the left side. On the Design tab, point at a Theme thumbnail to get a preview of how it would affect the look of your slide. To see the full gallery of themes, click the More button: When you find a theme you want, click its thumbnail to apply it to all slides in your presentation. To customize a theme, see Create your own theme in PowerPoint. What is a PowerPoint template? A template is a theme plus some content for a specific purpose—such as a sales presentation, a business plan, or a classroom lesson. So a template has design elements that work together colors, fonts, backgrounds, effects and boilerplate content that you augment to tell your story. You can create your own custom templates and store them, reuse them, and share them with others. See Create and save a PowerPoint template. You can also find hundreds of different types of free templates for PowerPoint that you can apply to your presentation: Get pre-built PowerPoint templates at Templates. Here are some examples of the free templates available there:

5 Awesome Activities for Make a Difference Day On October 28 millions of volunteers from across the country will come together for "Make a Difference Day," one of the largest and most widely recognized days of community service.

Of course it has to do with making an income, but it is so much more! As I think of making a difference I think of all the little things we do everyday in our lives that have a ripple effect on us, our families, our communities and ultimately the world. As you seek success in your business you learn to depend upon yourself. Your business has the potential to have MANY positive impacts on your family. There is also a satisfaction that comes from earning an income. But money is just the start of the ripple effect on your family. The list goes on and on, these are just to get you thinking. You will take that customer relationship a step further by helping your host to be successful. They will achieve their goals and learn lessons from their hard work. When you invite people to join your team and help them find their own success you will be rewarded financially, but the reward of helping them to grow far outweighs that. It is so exciting to help people become butterflies and fly! As a member of a team, you have the chance to learn and be involved in team success. You become a cheerleader for your friends and are thrilled with their successes. You learn to learn from others and how to work in a give and take experience. This concept is to open your eyes to the HUGE impact you can have and encourage you to envision what you can do! Coming to this realization and then having a vision of what can be done are the first steps in setting goals! You have to have a dream to make a dream come true! Here is the list of product and how to use them in the order you will present them during your meeting: This can be use as an invitation to your kick-off meeting. You can then use it during the year to follow up with notes, reminders, etc. This makes it so easy for you to print up invitations. Or we also have one set up as an invitation we can print for you or you can order and just fill in the blanks. It is the same item number followed by a T or TPR. PRSET sheet of stickers. These are printed on our combo sheet, but each of the designs are available separately. Give everyone a copy of the poem before you read it to them. Invite them to take it home and put it somewhere where they will read it everyday to motivate and encourage them. Give this as a prize while playing the Bingo game until everyone receives one. Ask them to put this button on the visor in their car and encourage them to look at it every time they get in their car. Maybe they just smiled at someone, or held the door open, or let someone in traffic, or waved to a neighbor. All these little things have a ripple effect in the lives of others. You may not know the difference you make, but if you actively TRY, chances are they will be good differences. Or EB without the This Board has 3 different sections. First, a place to write your goal for the year. What do you want to see happen? You may want to include goals for self, family and business. Setting goals that you will see everyday helps you to stay focused and envision what you want to have happen. What we suggest is that at the end of every meeting you give them this card. Ask them to write on the card what concepts that they have just learned during your meeting that they will begin to implement immediately. Actually give them a few minutes to fill in the card AT your meeting. This will help them cement those concepts in their minds. Then ask them to take the card home and transfer their list onto the Erase Board. Once they have done this, ask them to mail the card back to you. You may want to put your address sticker on the reverse side before you give it to them or have them all put your address on it at the same time. When they transfer the info onto the EB they commit again. When they mail it back to you, they are making yet another commitment. Now, what are YOU going to do with those cards? First use it as a decoration at your meeting. Then, during the meeting explain how the bag will be used throughout the year: When you get those cards in the mail each month, keep them all together. When you get to your meeting, refer to the cards as you refresh what you taught and discussed the previous month. Invite your team members to share their achievements and challenges. Then, put the cards in the bag and use them for your drawings that you do throughout the meeting! This is why the BAG is perfect. It folds down, with the cards inside and next month, just open it up again and put it on the table. Small and compact &€” easy to transport! Now, the third section of the erase board: When they get home, ask them to move an item or two they are going to keep doing onto that part of the board and erase the bottom section and fill it in with the new information. This keeps the board fresh and interactive and it is used all year long. Too many time we incorporate something new into our business and then in the excitement of trying yet another NEW concept we stop doing what brought us success. This board is to keep these new habits fresh and right in front of us until they become an automatic part of doing business. You can set these up to be anything you want them to be. Give everyone the bookmark and ask them to put it in their day planner and every time they look at it to ask themselves the question, What am I doing NOW? The inside is blank so you can write a personal note. Send it to those you want to recognize for making a difference. Fun awards you can give to those you want to recognize each month for making a difference. All the products mentioned in the training for your team! Chapter 7 : 10 Inspiring Songs That Make You Want to Change the World Colby and Awu

Books by Theme. Making a Difference. Meet Charlotte, Soo, Horton, and the other characters in this booklist recommended for kids ages Whether they care about.

Making A Difference Your Theme: I also have a fascination with making something new from unexpected pieces. I think about how we all work and the realistic steps we can take to make the new year a little better, not to follow the so-called trends. I do this by embracing a theme for the year. This is where the parade comes in because each year, they have a theme and they tend to be applicable to the world of work. I gave a little spin to this from a business standpoint and shared practical ways to make that reality in your workplace. This included use of productivity apps, breaking processes, seeking to inform ONE mind, and focusing on becoming a storyteller with data. Another year, the theme was Just Imagine, and it set my whole year in motion by imagining all the things I could accomplish in my work. This year, the theme is even more excitingâ€”Making A Difference. How many days do you head into work with the simple approach of how you will make a difference that day? These are the people who fill your schedule with tasks that do not lead to making a difference with your skills, nor your ideas. How can you do this? Here are a few suggestions to get you started: Whether you write it on a Post-it note taped to your computer, put a note on your bathroom mirror or in your car, make seeing the theme part of every day. In fact, put the theme in a few places. Write it in your planner, add an auto-reminder in the middle of each day to keep you on track. There are many ways to make being mindful of your approach a part of your day. Make your year not to get sidetracked! For all those times when you think you should focus your time and attention somewhere else, inform others. Then, be open to discussion. This brings things full circle and hopefully, all your efforts have made a difference like your original theme planned. Like anything, this is a practice.
