Tramps and Ladies has 7 ratings and 1 review. Diana said: This title is the second in a series of three books written by Sir James Bisset about his life.

What a perfectly beautiful little Lady. Walt loved the drawing and suggested that Joe make a storyboard out of it. So, Joe Grant put together a pitch for a new animated film, simply titled "Lady". However, upon seeing the pitch for "Lady" in , Walt , ultimately disliked the story, because he thought it was too simplistic. Personality Lady is rather demure and naive but makes a good friend to those who know her and is very faithful to her family. She is not completely helpless it is shown that she can be brave and protective. She was not afraid of the rat and would chase it away from her home and she took on the responsibility to protect the baby. By the sequel, she has become less naive and more motherly and responsible due to being a mother. Physical appearance Lady is a American Cocker Spaniel with dark brown colored ears and brown eyes which she passes down to her children. Most of her body is beige, with a tan muzzle and belly. Her tail is docked, as it is unnaturally short for her breed. As an adult, she wears a light blue collar with a diamond shaped license. Appearances Lady and the Tramp Lady in the original film. Lady, as a young puppy, was given to Darling as a Christmas present from Jim Dear. She is named Lady due to her good manners and ladylike personality. When Lady is six months old, she is given a beautiful blue collar and a license. She has a family, and is friends with two neighboring dogs, Jock and Trusty. One day, Lady is saddened because Jim Dear and Darling have been treating her coldly. After talking with Jock and Trusty, she learns that Darling is going to be having a baby. The Tramp , a stray dog, overhears the conversation and gives Lady his own opinion, but is ordered out of the yard by Jock and Trusty. Later, Jim Dear and Darling introduce Lady to the new baby and then leave to go on a trip. While they are gone, Lady and the baby are looked after by Aunt Sarah , who takes an immediate dislike to Lady. A terrified Lady escapes but soon runs into some stray dogs. Thankfully, she is rescued by the Tramp, who not only assists in getting the muzzle off but takes Lady out on the town to show her how he lives. At home, Lady is tied to her doghouse, when the Tramp comes to apologize. Lady refuses at first, citing his many girlfriends from the past. The Tramp goes to stop the rat, and Lady is able to follow him after breaking free of her doghouse. Aunt Sarah comes and thinks the two dogs tried to attack the baby. The Tramp is taken off to the pound , while Lady is locked in the basement, she struggles to break free. Jim Dear and Darling return as the dogcatcher leaves, and they release Lady. Lady then leaves with Jim Dear, as the two rush to go get the Tramp. The dogcatcher is stopped thanks to the combined efforts of Jock and Trusty, though Trusty is injured. At Christmas, it is revealed that the Tramp has been made a member of the family and that Lady and he are the proud parents of a litter of four puppies. Lady and the Tramp II: A search party ensues involving Lady, but after a while, Scamp returns with a change of heart, and a new member of the family: Angel is warmly welcomed by Lady, who celebrates the reformation of her family. Lady shares the famous spaghetti kiss with Tramp , himself in human form. Other appearances Lady along with the Tramp make cameo appearances out in the street during the Twilight Bark sequence of One Hundred and One Dalmatians. Lady and the Tramp in Bonkers. Lady and the Tramp make a cameo appearance in the Bonkers episode " CasaBonkers ". They are briefly seen eating spaghetti together at the Rubber Room. Lady has made a few non-speaking cameos on House of Mouse , always seen alongside the Tramp.

Admission is free, pay at the door, Pull up a chair, and sit on the floor. Oh, that bright day in the dead of night, Two dead men got up to fight. Three blind men to see fair play, Forty mutes to yell "Hooray"! Back to back, they faced each other, Drew their swords and shot each other. A deaf policeman heard the noise, Came and arrested those two dead boys. I come before you to stand behind you, To tell you something I know nothing about. Admission is free, please pay at the door. Have a seat on me: No matter where you manage to sit, The man in the balcony will certainly spit. We thank you for your unkind attention, And would now like to present our next act: Lady, lady, better run! Your house is on fire, Your children will burn! So jump ye and sing, for The very first time The four lines above Have been put into rhyme. Love is not love Which alters when it alteration finds, Or bends with the remover to remove: If this be error and upon me proved, I never writ, nor no man ever loved. I have ideas for changes though, why not come over? Streets that follow like a tedious argument Of insidious intent To lead you to an overwhelming question Oh, do not ask, "What is it?
